First Accredited Accountable Care

We're very proud to tell you that the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA) has named Kelsey-Seybold Clinic the nation's first accredited Accountable Care Organization (ACO).

NCQA accreditation provides independent evaluation of an organization's ability to coordinate care and be accountable for delivering high-quality, efficient, patient-centered care.

TO BE RECOGNIZED AS AMERICA'S FIRST ORGANIZATION TO ACHIEVE THESE STANDARDS IS AN INCREDIBLE HONOR AND ACHIEVEMENT.

What is an Accountable Care Organization?

The purpose of Accountable Care is to improve the overall health of our patients. As an ACO, we take a pro-active approach that promotes healthy lifestyle choices, reduces preventable illnesses and better manages chronic or ongoing conditions. ACOs coordinate your healthcare among primary care doctors, medical specialists and multiple care settings through the use of shared information technology such as our Electronic Medical Record (EMR) system. Treatment plans are developed based on proven, best practices.

ACOs regularly report performance outcomes on quality measures such as prevention, disease identification, ongoing care for chronic illnesses and patient satisfaction to help ensure you're receiving true quality healthcare.

At Kelsey-Seybold, providing coordinated, accountable care is what we have been doing for more than 60 years.

When Dr. Mavis Kelsey founded Kelsey-Seybold in 1949, he brought doctors from many specialties together to collaborate and work together to improve patient outcomes. His vision of coordinated care has been benefiting our patients ever since.

Kelsey-Seybold is honored and proud to be the first in the nation accredited by NCQA as an Accountable Care Organization.
